Easter Revision in Birmingham

4 April to 22 April 2022

MPW Birmingham has been delivering academic success at both GCSE and A level since 1980 and has for many years been rated 'Outstanding' by Ofsted across all areas of assessment. Part of the MPW group of colleges, MPW Birmingham is one of the country's best known independent fifth- and sixth-form colleges.

About MPW

MPW offers a broad range of subjects and has a tradition of expertise in intensive, exam-oriented tuition. It is this expertise which forms the basis of our Easter revision courses. Our courses are designed not only to consolidate knowledge and understanding but also to develop good question-answering skills and examination technique. We believe it is essential that our courses foster students' self-confidence and motivation which, in our experience, underpin both effective revision during the Summer term and strong academic performance in the actual examinations.

Our Distinctive Approach to Tuition

Our tutors are all highly qualified graduates with considerable teaching experience. Many are GCSE or A level examiners and are therefore attuned to the requirements and approaches demanded by the various examining boards.

Small classes are essential in order to provide the personalised attention that each student requires. All groups are limited to an absolute maximum of nine students, although the average is usually six or seven.

Students must expect to be worked hard for the duration of their courses and they are tested regularly. During the course each student will be given advice on the best way to revise in the final run-up to their examinations.

There has never been a better time to study an Easter Revision Course

Final-year GCSE and A level students are largely now examined on all aspects of the course in a single exam sitting at the end of two years. Accordingly, it has never been more important for students to run through the key areas of the syllabus in a structured environment as part of their overall revision programme. With the exam season underway in May, the Easter holiday is the ideal time for an intensive period of revision without any other distractions.

For Year 12 students who are not sitting public examinations this year, our separate Year 12 courses provide the perfect preparation for the end-of-year internal examinations that often determine a student's predicted grades when applying next year for university.

A Level Course Structure

For Year 12 and 13 students we run predominantly both board- and topic-specific courses as set out in the Course Outlines booklet which should be read alongside this brochure. The majority of courses are timetabled either mornings or afternoons intensively for five days, thus allowing students to study up to two subjects in a given week.

GCSE Course Structure

Again, the majority of GCSE courses are week-long, half-day courses, running from Monday to Friday and targeting this Summer's examination series. For History and English Literature we offer half-day modules on historical periods or specific texts. Support for Year 10 students studying GCSE specifications is also available and can be discussed in more detail with the Course Director.
